

THE ENQUIRER

Cincinnati.Com

THURSDAY, JULY 9, 2009

75 CENTS

---

News Briefs

CINCINNATI

More schools offer extra programs

Cincinnati Public Schools and its network of after-school program providers will expand to six more schools this year because they received new five-year state grants worth $11.9 million, the YMCA of Greater Cincinnati said. With the new funding, the after-school programs will now be offered at Frederick Douglass School, Roberts Paideia Academy, Rothenberg, Sayler Park, Taft Elementary School, and Woodward Career Technical High School.